BANQUETING

WILLEMSWERF

Version: Januari 2025

WELCOME

Foreword

Food is something amazing. At Food&i, we understand that every time you eat it should be something special. It's also important that your order is always on time, that you can order quickly and that the range offers plenty of choice for everyone; even if you place an order several times a week.

You can place your order for standard meeting catering and lunches through the Facility Desk preferably before 12:00 PM on the day before. For cocktail parties/receptions at your department, we ask you to book these through the Facility Desk at least five days in advance.

A food book is nothing new. With our business assortment, however, we take it a step further. Forget the old assortment. Food&i rocks your buffet and transforms every meeting room into a taste sensation. Join us on a journey of flavour and browse through our colour packages. Each package has a slightly different approach, with different meal times and a varied style of food. Of course, it is possible to shop around, or order our icons at the end as an extra treat. No worries, just good food.

Our range consists of a mix of animal and vegetable products. Of course, you can also choose a completely plant-based range. Everything you find in this food book is transparent about nutritional value, prepared with as many vegetables, dietary fibres and healthy proteins as possible. And, where possible, selected with attention to animal welfare. Our eggs from De Groene Hen, our Beemster cheese, and our veal from Farm Fields are among the most sustainable in the world.

And we don't throw anything away. NOTHING. So help us and order one of our pizzas, for example, or lunch packages made with our 'no waste' products or pick something from the menu of the day and be surprised.

We believe in flavour and taste sensation. That is why we recommend choosing one of our packages that are part of a varied range we have put together, so that you not only taste many different flavours, but also enjoy the surprising variety that ensures a healthy energy balance.

We are pleased to introduce our revamped 2025 banqueting book. As Food&i, we provide a varied assortment to suit your needs and type of event. We can, of course, also provide bespoke on-site solutions for events.

With kind regards,
Team Food&i Willemswerf

The Facility Desk can be contacted via:

When booking, please let us know if the order will be collected from our restaurant or if you would like it delivered (€6.50).

OUR IMPACT

Food with impact!

Food&i serves food with impact. A strong vision of a healthy and diverse diet for all forms the foundation of our banqueting services.

A menu of delicious food, a diverse range and local producers. Every day is new, with different flavours and plant forward (containing sustainable meat and fish, but especially loads of vegetables), which is good for your body and mind, and above all: extremely reliable.

Everything on the menu at Food&i is tasty and good for the planet, people & animals. That means we make (at times difficult) choices and want to tempt you to join us on a journey. A journey where you taste new things, see what you eat, know what's in the food and that whets your appetite for a snack, hot meal, sandwich and salad. Eating and drinking at work has never been so much fun.

Our iconic range

These are the icons of our range, the products that we focus on and that matter most to Food&i.

Beter Leven certified

For example, all our Farm Fields veal products are 3-star Beter Leven certified; the same goes for our Livar pork products. Like our Vitello and Fricandeau sandwiches.

Transparent chain

Our Beemster cheese has proven itself as a company with circular business practices throughout the chain. For instance, they were voted the most sustainable cheese brand in the Netherlands for the fourth time.

Or how about our home-made tuna salad, which is made exclusively from Fishtales tuna. An MSC certified company with a transparent chain.

Signature bread

We consider our bread to be an icon. We opt for parbaked bread in our range to guarantee fresh bread and avoid food waste.

If bread is delivered fresh, then we use a local baker from the village or city!

Our transition to better and healthier!

A varied diet for everyone

The transition to eating less meat, but what do we serve at Food&i? Hybrid products, meat-substitutes & the quick fix! But how about when we do eat meat? Then we eat meat that we know the origins of and with attention to animal welfare!

Vitality

Proper nutrition is essential to mind and body. Our menus offer fresh salads, protein-rich dishes and both vegetarian and vegan options. We focus on plant-forward: sustainable meat & fish and plenty of vegetables. Be sure to try our spreads, like the Food&i egg salad, that we create according to the 50/50 principle (50% vegetable, 50% animal-based). Day in and day out, our F&B experts work passionately to develop sustainable, nutritious and flavourful dishes for Food&i.

Our Food Code

The requirements for all partners of Food&i. Our code contains all standards and principles regarding our range of products. This code describes how we view our menu, our preparation methods and procurement, but also our code of conduct and everything else related to our food and beverages!

A banqueting order at Food&i represents a journey on which you taste new things. On this journey, we show you a predominantly plant-based range, with limited animal protein.

Any allergens or dietary requirements? Let us know when ordering and we'll make sure to take them into account.

Our food is for everyone

Clean label General reliability

Transparency from a nutritional point of view. None to few E numbers, and only when they have a clear and explainable function. Certain Asian flavourings and pre-packaged snacks may not yet be 100% clean label.

Culinary Inclusivity

Food&i has a strong identity, but within the confines of our concept, there is something for everyone! Whatever your or your colleagues' diet or eating pattern, we have something to offer you, whilst giving you the right tools and information to grow and improve where possible. In doing so, together we make an impact for a better world.

Our food is geared towards you

Homemade

Standard quality at any time of the day. All our homemade recipes are our own, the use of which we demand in our own central kitchen. At Food&i, we make an increasing part of our range ourselves. Developed entirely from Food&i's vision, which is in line with our guest.

GRO

What makes GRO special in the food sector is that they have a short, fully circular and transparent chain. You know what you're eating and where it comes from. The delicious crunchy snacks contain oyster mushrooms, which means you eat a few more vegetables without noticing. GRO's products help reduce environmental impact and are bursting with flavour. They are the starting point for a better future!

De Groene Hen

De Groene Hen, the ultra-sustainable egg. They keep the production process in-house, from chick, research, energy supply, manure processing to packing. The entire process is virtually circular, on the way to zero-waste. The eggs are white, which means they are eco-friendlier than a brown egg. And they have received the On the way to PlanetProof label. In other words: distinctive and responsible!

Farm Fields

A conscious and responsible farm in the middle of the Veluwe, where Farm Fields has a beautiful organic farm with its own butchery. All the animals are born on Dutch dairy farms, so you can be 100% sure where your meat comes from. Animal welfare is given the highest priority at the farm, which is reflected in the three Beter Leven stars.
